Ditesco receives CMAA Best Projects Award for MAX BRT Project in Fort Collins

Fort Collins, CO --- November 10, 2014: Ditesco, a local engineering, program, project, and construction management services firm in Fort Collins, Colorado, has been awarded with the Construction Management Association of America's (CMAA) 2014 Project Achievement Award for the MAX Bus Rapid Transit System (BRT) project in Fort Collins, Colorado.

The award, which recognizes "projects and programs in which professional construction and program management has made a significant contribution to success" (cmaanet.org) was presented at CMAA's National Conference and Trade show in San Francisco on October 21, 2014. The BRT project was awarded in the "Infrastructure – Constructed Value Less Than $150 Million" category.

The MAX BRT project, which was brought in on time and $2 million under budget by the construction management team (Ditesco and CH2M HILL), features a new guideway and bridge, 19 bus stations, a new transit center, a new overpass and underpass, and an expanded maintenance facility.

"This project required a team that could provide excellent contract management, technical engineering expertise, creative decision making in the field, and leadership skills," said Fred Haberecht of Colorado State University. "Ditesco exceeded all of these requirements, and went above and beyond in their performance... [They] implemented a project that the entire community can be proud of."

The MAX BRT has been open to the public since May 10, 2014.
